Farm Loan Bonds
A New Investment

How New Securities To Aid Farmers On Mainland Are To Be Marketed—Big Financial Houses To Help In Distribution

WASHINGTON.—The Federal Farm Loan Board, on behalf of the twelve federal land banks and at their request, has concluded an arrangement by which a group of investment houses will participate in the marketing of Farm Loan Bonds soon to be issued by the banks. The preliminary negotiations have been had with Alexander Brown & Sons, of Baltimore; Brown Brothers & Co., of Philadelphia; Harris, Forbes & Co., of New York; and Lee, Higginson & Co., of Boston, who are among the oldest and most conservative houses in the country having large lists of customers, and facilities for the distribution of bonds to investors.

While such securities as Farm Loan Bonds are well known in Europe, where they generally sell on a parity with Government Bonds, the American investor is not yet educated to them, and it is believed that by utilizing the facilities of these Investment Houses a larger number of investors can be reached in a short period of time than would otherwise be possible, and that in this way a broad and continuing market for Farm Loan Bonds can be promptly established. The four houses agree to form a National group, including houses in every land bank district, which will market approximately half of the bonds issued by the banks during the next six months, up to a total of $30,000,000. The other half will be sold directly by the banks to investors in their respective districts. It is estimated that the total issues of bonds by the banks within a year will amount to between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000, and our agricultural exigencies require that there shall be neither uncertainty nor delay about providing these funds for American farmers.

In response to a request from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Attorney-General Gregory made a careful examination of the Federal Farm Loan Act and rendered an opinion fully sustaining the constitutionality of the Act, and approved especially the provisions relating to the issue of Farm Loan Bonds, the validity of such bonds. Later, the investment houses made an exhaustive study of the security of the bonds, and before concluding a contract, took the opinion of former Justice Charles E. Hughes, who gave his full and unqualified approval as to the constitutionality of the Farm Loan Act, the legality of the bonds issued under it, and the validity of the exemption of these bonds from all forms of taxation. The bonds will be offered to the public by the land banks and the investment house concurrently, about July 1st, when terms and other details will be announced.

Spiced Grapes

Kahului Lyceum Now
Has Sunday Program

After many requests for moving pictures on Sunday night at the Kahului Lyceum, performances were started Sunday, July 8th with a showing of E. H. Sothern's great success "An Enemy To The King." A part of the receipts were given to the American Red Cross Society. On Sunday, July 15th one of the three greatest pictures ever produced was offered this being H. B. Warner in "The Beggar Of Cawnpore."

Owing to the fact that no movies were being shown in Kahului until lately the people who wanted to see the pictures on Sunday (and Kahului has many enthusiastic movie fans) had to pay auto hire to Waikuku or one of the other theatres in order to satisfy this want. This will be unnecessary now that the Lyceum is offering Sunday performances.

Coming very lately from New York and its theatrical activities, Manager Snyder has seen many of the productions to be played on Maui. Consequently when the Lyceum advertises a picture as being a good one the public can count on a worth-while production. With this advantage it will be wise to watch the daily program in the Wireless and also the Program published weekly in the Maui News. Weekly program is mailed to the theatre goers each week giving them an idea of the pictures to be shown that week.—Adv.

The tenders are to be opened at a special meeting of the board to be held Saturday, August 4.

Bankruptcy Action
Stops Hotel Sale

charges are so entirely at variance with the general understanding here in Waikuku that they have caused something of a sensation and much resentment on the part of those attacked personally.

Except for Attorney Peters' unfair efforts to collect the account of his client, Levi Strauss & Company by closing the hotel, it is declared by the company's officials, the business would have been wound up without undue friction, and with justice to everybody concerned. The first move was made by Peters in levying on furniture in the hotel and finally ordering so much property seized that the hotel would have had to suspend.

The mortgagees at this stage brought the matter before the 2nd circuit court in a bill of equity to restrain Peters' enforcing his claim, on the grounds that to close the hotel would so decrease the value of the property that the owners and creditors would not be able to get a fair value for it when sold.

On this representation Judge Edings granted the injunction and appointed Fred K. MacDonald as receiver to manage the property under the court. E. R. Bevis was at the same time appointed commissioner to sell the property under the foreclosure of mortgage, the sale being set for last Saturday. This, as before stated was blocked by the bankruptcy effort.

Lufkin Makes Vigorous Denial

C. D. Lufkin, Manager of the Bank of Maui, Ltd., whose integrity is especially attacked in the petition, makes specific denial of all of the allegations of crookedness or of planning on the part of anyone connected with the hotel to defraud any creditors or stockholders. Regarding the second mortgage, which the petition charges was made to protect certain creditors, Lufkin says:

"The second mortgage was placed on the distinct and unqualified statement of de Souza (organizer and then manager of the property) and of J. Holmberg, supervising architect, at a time when the building was practically completed, that $6500 more money was needed to finish the hotel in good shape. On that representation these gentlemen (the holders of the second mortgage) advanced that amount and added $2000 to be sure that all contingencies were covered. This money was paid in hard cash and every dollar was later paid to bona fide creditors.

"The hotel company didn't owe these men a cent. I can't vouch for what became of the money, but every cent of the $8500 was placed to the credit of the Grand Hotel Company."

Holders of Second Mortgage

The men who accepted notes secured by the second mortgage are—H. Streubeck, $2000; C. D. Lufkin, $2000; G. A. Hansen, $500; J. Garcia, $1000; J. M. Medeiros, $1000; M. G. Paschoal, $500; and E. Vincent, $500. It is common knowledge in Waikuku that the floating of this second mortgage was attended by much difficulty.

Tried To Find Purchaser

Regarding the charge of an attempt to grab the hotel at a fraction of its true value, Mr. Lufkin stated: "About two weeks ago I went to Honolulu for the express purposes of seeing the Territorial Hotel Company and others with a view to persuading some one to buy the hotel. I saw C. C. von Hamm, of the Territorial Hotel Company, but could not interest him, his statement being that his company did not care to acquire any property outside of Honolulu. I urged him to come to the sale, but to no avail. In numerous letters and in person, I have brought the matter of the prospective sale of the property to the attention of every trust company in Honolulu in the interest of getting a good price. I gave full descriptions and got as much publicity as I could through the newspapers."

Denies Fraud in Land Deal

Because of the fact that J. Garcia is president of the Hotel company, is one of the mortgagees of the company and is secretary and treasurer of the Maui Drygoods & Grocery Company, the petition in the federal court alleges a plot in the acquiring of the vacant lot opposite the hotel property on which the hotel company had had a lease with option of purchase. Lufkin stated regarding this—

"The hotel never owned the lot in question. It held an option to purchase it along with the property on which the hotel was built. It was not in position to exercise its option, but the directors arranged that the Maui Drygoods might purchase it at the same rate per foot as the hotel lot, although not so valuable a property. It was therefore bought from Lyons direct for $4250 plus $300, one year's rent in advance which had been paid. After the transfer, because there was some kick among the stockholders that it had been sold too cheap and that others would have paid more for it, the Maui Drygoods company offered to return the property at the price paid, and gave the hotel company two weeks in which to make some other sale. This could not be done.

Hotel Should Be Supported

"The hotel has had a bad start. It probably cost more than it should have to build, but this has doubtless been offset by the increase in price of building materials since then. But I do not believe that there has been any crookedness on the part of anybody connected with the project. The place is built. It should be supported and deserves the support of Maui people. Except for the war it is entirely possible that the tourist business of last winter would have enabled the company to weather the storm."

Stockholders Will Lose

The stockholders who number upwards of 200, have paid in on the capitalization of $25,000, between $18,000 and $19,000. They will probably lose this entirely, besides which several thousand dollars more of the stock
